About Us

The Cayman LGBTQ Foundation is a nonprofit organization founded in April 2020 to advocate for and assist the LGBTQ community in the Cayman Islands. Over the past two years we have worked hard for the LGBTQ community, and we will continue to work to achieve a better way of life for all on our three islands.

Working with other entities, we provide many services for the LGBTQ community: services like counselling, life coaching, health services, assistance with immigration matters, legal matters, and much more.

In July 2021, the foundation faced many issues surrounding its first ever Cayman Pride Parade; one such issue concerned policing for the parade. However, with the help of H.E. the Governor, members of government and the wider community, we were able to host a successful parade without incident. One year later and the foundation was able to host its second annual Cayman Pride Parade with a noticeable increase in attendance and general public support.

Over the last few months, the Foundation and other nonprofit organizations have been working together to structure and implement sensitivity training for the Royal Cayman Islands Police Services. We are happy to report that this training is now standard for all officers; with its first LGBTQ Liaison Officer, there is strengthened confidence in the Royal Cayman Islands Police Services to deliver its services to the local LGBTQ community without fear of ill will.

Each year the Foundation holds its back-to-school drive, where we assist any children in need of back-to-school supplies and uniforms. The Foundation also held a drive and supported students who needed help with lunches on all three islands.

We will continue to work hard within the community for equality for all.
